The following items of business will come before the Middletown Conservation Commission at a special meeting to be held on Monday, April 25, 2022 at 6:30 PM at Middletown Town Council Chambers, 350 East Main Road, Middletown, RI 02842.

Kate Venturini Hardsley, Program Administrator for Invasive Plant Management at URI's Cooperative Extension, will speak about the problems posed by invasive plants, identify the ones that are most pervasive in our area, and discuss options for dealing with them. Invasive plants such as bittersweet, multiflora rose, and Japanese knotweed crowd out native species, spoil scenic views, damage landscaping, and can even harm structures such as walls and pavement. Come learn about the challenges they pose and explore ideas for managing these invasive species in our community. At the conclusion of the meeting, Melissa Welch (a Conservation Commission member) will speak regarding local efforts to control Japanese Knotweed

This program is open to the public, is sponsored by the Middletown Conservation Commission, and is scheduled for Monday, April 25, 2022 at 6:30pm in the Town Hall Council Chambers.
